Dear Friends in Cloghereny & Sixmilecross

I trust that you are all continuing to manage as the restrictions are beginning to ease a little. With the ease in restrictions comes change. As indicated last week, Aughnacloy and Ballymagrane are reopening this week. With this change we are no longer in a position to provide a video recording of the service in either church. This, we know will be a major disappointment for many, but we will attempt to make a voice recording which will be sent out to the Email addresses I have and can then be copied to a CD and passed to others. Like so much that has happened during lock-down this is another new area for us to work on.

The situation around the reopening of Cloghereny and Sixmilecross is under regular review and I look forward to the day when we will all be able to worship together again in Cloghereny and Sixmilecross without social distance and the other restrictions presently in place. Your safety is our priority.

However, in the meantime, as these plans come together, may I encourage you to listen to our Moderators service broadcast from the PCI main web page and the attached devotion is an abbreviated edition of the planned service in Aughnacloy and Ballymagrane.

Keep Safe and God Bless you all

Roger McElnea
